

LAU-RHEA WARD, ST. SIMONS ISLAND, GA.

SUNSET ON FREDERICA RIVER,
ST. SIMONS ISLAND, GEORGIA

In 1736, near this spot, the British under Oglethorpe, built Fort Frederica, England's southernmost outpost against the Spaniards. Live oak timbers cut from St. Simons in—1794, were loaded at Gascoigne Bluff on Frederica River and shipped north for building the U. S. Frigate Constitution and other first vessels of the American Navy.
